

Yaba-daba Yabbies!

Who'da thunk that New Orleanians could consume 32,000 pounds of innocent crayfish? (But then again, who'da thunk W would leave us in the SuperDome for so long?)

Be that all what it may, you certainly must set aside Saturday, April 21, 2007, as a very important date. No, that is not the date that the lower 9th ward will be brand spankin' new or that Michael Brown will finally get his comeuppance – it is the date of St. Tammany's biggest annual cook-off event – the Crawfish Cookoff.

For six hours, 40 teams will vie to be THE ABSOLUTE SUPREME CHAMPIONS of crawfish cooking, mudbug masticating and yabbie yumminess. So mark the date with a Sharpie, and start training – the cooks are already ahead of you!

All proceeds benefit the Hospice Foundation of the South.
